

Irene Race 2020

Sunday, July 12th

Yes, there will be an Irene Race! We will just have a different format this year. First of all, I hope that rather than having a lot of women on a few boats, we have a lot of boats with a few women. The race will be a pursuit race with each boat being assigned a start time dependent on their rating. This will make it possible to have fewer people on the race committee boat. I don't know what the protocols for social distancing will be in July, but assuming that people might not want to have too much exposure to others we are considering having a double handed class.
